

CCTP Participant Voices

Chaplains at the Cheyenne VA understand the continual draw for your time, energy, and expertise. We also understand that it is important to be selective when scheduling time to attend trainings. The community training program that we offer, at no cost to you, is a great program. We provide a training that is aimed at increasing your awareness of Veteran challenges, while increasing your ability to engage and offer support. We also provide you with resources that you will be able to use to help Veterans in your community.

Here are some recent insights into how others have experienced the first four modules of the CCTP training:

“As a lay person attending the training, I gleaned quite a bit that was applicable not only to relating with Veterans, but in building community in general. I’m more informed on how to connect Veterans with local and government services, and faith based organizations.”

by Martha Kastler

“This training was very helpful to me, because I am a Veteran and learned a lot that will help me to help other Veterans. And, to help myself.”

by Cody A. Smith

“This training was helpful to me, because I learned more about suicide prevention with Veterans. I became more aware of PTSD during this training. As A Veteran, I never understood how PTSD had affected my life. I now understand myself better. I will share the content of this training with my pastor. I wish I had known what I know now, before, but I am so glad to know it now. I am thankful for this training.”
